Vice President & Public Sector CSO for Asia-Pacific
Palo Alto Networks

We would like to invite you to join an exclusive executive discussion featuring Mihoko Matsubara, Vice President and Public Sector Chief Security Officer (CSO) for Asia-Pacific, Palo Alto Networks.

Mihoko, based in Singapore, is responsible for developing thought leadership, threat intelligence and security best practices for the cybersecurity community within the governments and academia in the region.

Mihoko was formerly CSO for Palo Alto Networks in Japan and she also worked at the Japanese Ministry of Defense. Mihoko received a Fulbright Scholarship to pursue her MA in International Relations and Economics at the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies in Washington DC and was a research fellow at Pacific Forum CSIS, a Japan-US cybersecurity cooperation think-tank.

In Tokyo, she worked for Hitachi Systems as a cybersecurity analyst researching cyberthreat environments and policy issues and worked at Intel K.K., Tokyo, in the role of cybersecurity policy director.

She is the first Japanese speaker (2015) at the NATO International Conference on Cyber Conflict in Estonia and was most recently appointed as an Executive Committee Member of The Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association (AFCEA) in 2017.

Discussion Focus:

This will be an interactive event so we ask that you come prepared to engage with your peers as we discuss the key issues for women across the cyber environment.

Opportunities abound in cybersecurity and roles for women are actively being encouraged to enter and engage in the industry. However, alongside the challenges of digital disruption and a global cybercrime industry, women themselves continue to be challenged with achieving equal diversity and inclusion, role opportunities and pay scales.

On behalf of Palo Alto Networks and the Australian Cyber Security Magazine, you are invited to join Mihoko Matsubara for an intimate round-table discussion around the challenges facing women in cybersecurity, including young women, mentoring programs, women's advocacy, cross-career training and maintaining a diverse workforce.

Your participation in this discussion will hopefully enable you to identify ways and exchange ideas to address these challenges and apply them at your workplace.

This is a very limited seating engagement so please register ASAP to reserve your seat.

Kindly RSVP by 20 October 2017 to rsvp@mysecuritymedia.com or 0432 743 261
